IT'S WEST VIRGINIA STATE COLLEGE IN

THE HEART OF THE MAGIC VALLEY

Dedication

Through the years, the State of West Virginia has grown with the times, and the nation, leaving behind a historical past that lives within the heart of everyone. From this state has come many political figures. In resources, it produces one of the nations most important fuels — coal. In the field of education, it has produced the best for students of all states of our country. Not just for our benefit, but for students of foreign countries as well. We are very proud to say that West Virginia State College is a product of this state.

On the inside cover are nine students, from various states, each here for a purpose. Behind them can be seen the Administration Building. Here is where they toil and struggle with some of the greatest people in the world — our instructors. As they walk down the campus, the trees surround them, and the grass parts beneath their feet. Could this aspect of beauty be possible without the faithful work of our maintenance crew? They too, are a part of our family. We salute them for their service to the school and the students.

Our family here at State has always been friendly, and considerate of their alma mater since its very inception. Because of the great interest that our instructors have for the students, and the knowledge and wisdom that they instill within our minds, the students cannot help but go into the world exemplifying manhood and womanhood, self respect, and high moral character which is found in the students of West Virginia State College.

Because of these and many more high ideals that are found here in our family, we dedicate this annual to the State, the institution, faculty, employees of the school, and to the student himself. We, the members of the Arch, salute you.

How hard we worked!! Oh, no, we aren't complaining because truthfully, we really enjoyed it. Of course, it wasn't all fun because our headaches were many.

Oh, well, no use complaining because with the aid of aspirins, we managed to pull through. (Or did we?)

"International Review" Forcast

The office of the foreign student advisors has announced that plans are being made for an "International Review" to be presented on Saturday, March 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the college auditorium. The show will include songs, skits, and dances by foreign and American students of West Virginia State College. The purpose of the show is to raise funds for a foreign student scholarship and loan fund.

Archonians Present 'Fog'

The Archonian Club presented Nuenburg's "Fog" in chapel on Friday, March 7. The cast included Gloria Johnson as an elderly woman, Florence Harris as a middle-aged woman and Ellerica Moats as a young woman.

As the play opened a dense fog had delayed the arrival of a plane. Three women waited tensely, hoping and praying that a safe landing could be effected. Each was waiting for the one closest to her heart—a mother for her son whom she hadn't seen in years, a wife for her husband who had left

Donna Johns Reigns as Band Queen

The queen of the West Virginia State College band was crowned at the Coronation Ball on Friday evening, February 21. She is Miss Donna Jo Johns. The other candidates who served as her attendants were Madlyn White, Francetta Gore, Ellerica Moats, Marian Perry, and Phyllis Smott.

The band sponsored the contest to raise money for a band scholarship fund and needed band equipment. Those who bought a vote for their favorite contestant received a ticket to the Coronation Ball. The ball was a very gala affair with the music of the "West Virginia State Collegians" who made their first appearance as the college dance band. The auditorium of Fleming Hall was decorated in a musical theme. Flowers were arranged in the center of the floor and were later made into an aisle for the queen's procession which included an honor guard of two members of the Pershing Rifles. The queen's attendants were escorted by officers and section leaders of the band, James Gilliam, Raymond Campbell, Hershell Watkins, Leo Arrington, and Vernon Hawkins. Miss Johns was escorted to her throne, which was draped in white and surrounded with flowers and palms, by Fred Hodo, president of the band, who presented her with a large bouquet of white flowers. She was crowned by the band director, Mr. Leon Thompson, and was presented a gift certificate with which she bought a suit and accessories. The attendants were each given a bracelet and a lace linen handkerchief. The gifts were carried by William Carter, and Ruth Lipscomb carried the crown and flowers. They are members of the Junior Band. Miss Johns will travel with the band on their concert tour this spring.

Westminister Choir Sings . . .

The world-famous Westminster Choir appeared as the third attraction of West Virginia State College 1957-58 Artist Series on Sunday evening, March 9 at 8:00 o'clock in the college auditorium.

The current tour of this distinguished concert group marks the 35th consecutive season under the direction of its founder, John Finley Williamson. So far as is known, no other choral group has sung so long under the leadership of one man. The Choir has twice toured Europe and recently returned from its first tour of Asia. It has made 190 orchestral appearances in the last 17 years with symphony orchestras including the Philadelphia, New York Philharmonic, NBC Symphony of the Air, the Rochester Philharmonic, The Baltimore Symphony and others throughout the United States, under the direction of such conductors as Toscanini, Bruno Walter, Ormandy, Stokowski, Miench, Mitropoulos, Rodzinski, Rohmaninoff and Cantelli.

The Westminster Choir was first organized to serve as the volunteer choir of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Dayton, Ohio. Though the choir retains the name it had in its affiliation with this church, it is no longer a church choir but the touring concert unit of Westminster Choir

College in Princeton, New Jersey.

Among the soloists in this 40-voice group this season is the daughter of Roland Hayes, tenor, who became famous as the first internationally recognized Negro Concert Artist, paving the way for others of his race.

The program includes early church music by Palestrina, Bach, Lotti, Byrd and Fivaldi, secular items by Grieg, Di Lasso, Mozart and Handel. Randall Thompson's "The Testament of Freedom" (Nos 1-4) and a choral arrangement of Handy's "Saint Louis Blues" was performed as well as Avery Robinson's "Water Boy," "Set Down Servant" (arr Robert Shaw), "The Creation" (Tom Scott), "Victory Song" (Natalie Curtis and other contemporary offerings)

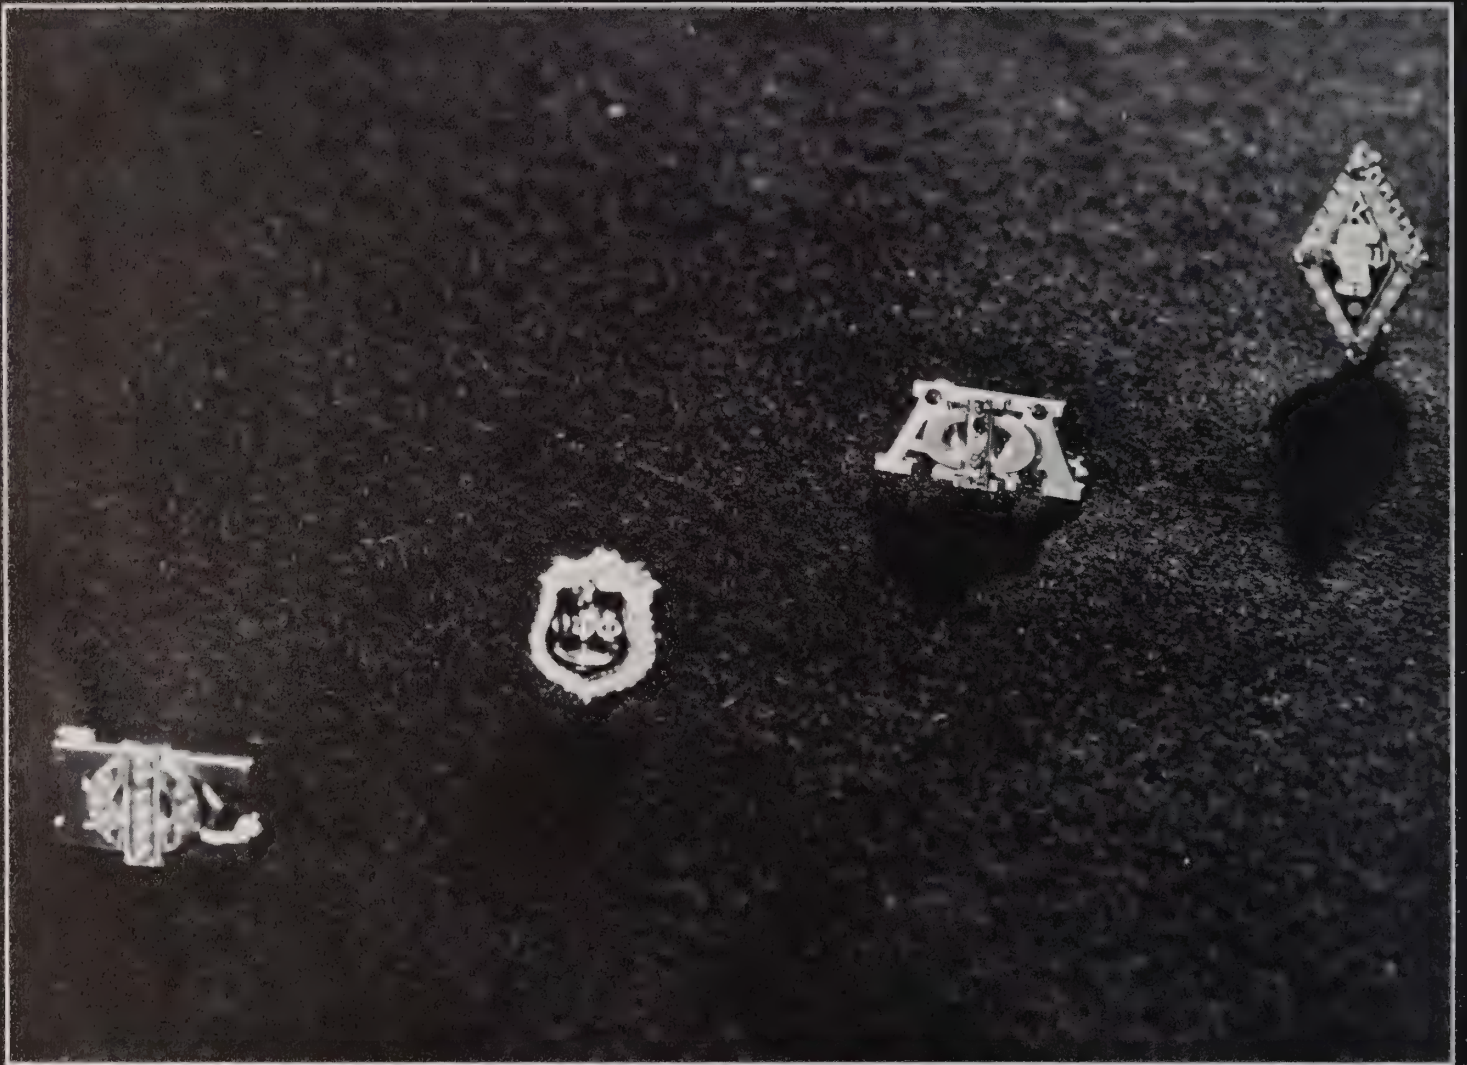

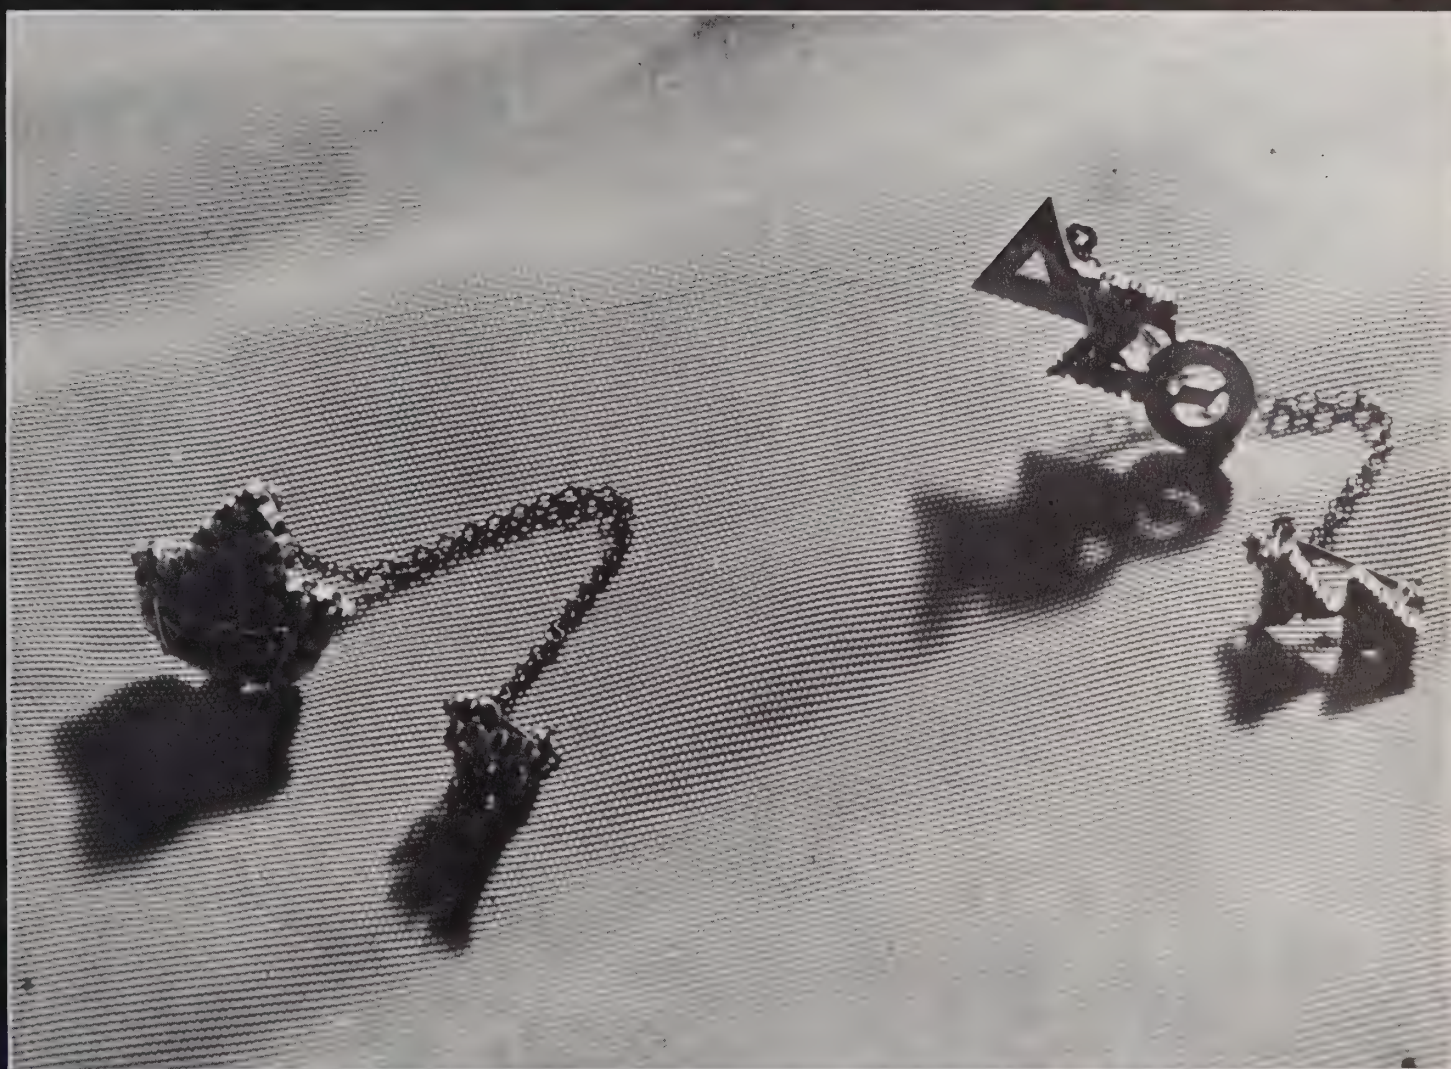

- NOTICE -

Members of the senior class wishing to purchase a senior class ring for the 1957-58 school year should contact Harry Wolford in the Yellow Jacket office between the hours of 10:00 and 11:00 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Terms can be arranged.

The Yellow Jacket office is the scene of typewriters humming and tempers flaring trying to bring to the student body, monthly, a resumé of the college activities. To us, our monthly school publication is the greatest!!

ZETA PHI BETA

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority had its beginning at Howard University, January 16, 1920. At the suggestion of members of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity that a sister organization be established, permission was secured from the President of the University that such an organization be begun. A constitution and by-laws, based upon that of Phi Beta Sigma was prepared, and Zeta Phi Beta was given life as a sister organization to the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity.

In 1923 Zeta Phi Beta was incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia. Chapters immediately began to grow in numbers and to cover more territory, and it was soon necessary to group the chapters into regions.

The first Boule was held jointly with Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity in Washington, D.C. during the week of December 25, 1920; the first regional meeting took place in that city in 1927.

One of the outstanding movements of the organization is "Finer Womanhood Week" which helps to express and foster the ideals upon which the sorority was founded. Among the many projects sponsored by the sorority are those which foster recreation, better housing, and the fight against juvenile delinquency.

Zeta Phi Beta participates in the Pan Hellenic Council, the American Council on Human Rights, and the National Council of Negro Women. It gives support to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the Institute on Race Relations, the United Negro College Fund, the National Education Association and similar organizations in the public interest.

Iota Beta Chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, which was established at West Virginia State College in 1948, is inactive for the present academic year; but it is hoped that this organization will again take its place among similar groups on the campus within the next year.

REFLECTING THOUGHTS

We, the members of the Arch Staff, have tried to depict life at West Virginia State College for the year, 1957-58. For some, it was a year of rewarding experiences, intellectually, socially, and spiritually, which can be noted in the preceding pages. However, it would be unfair to depart from this statement without reflecting in our thoughts those of us who gained nothing whatsoever in this realm. All things are good only so far as they are reflected or compared with some similar situation.

We must ask ourselves, "Was the school year as successful as it could have been had we exerted a little more effort?" In all fairness, the answer would have to be no. How many times have we heard complaints from students who would never, should the opportunity arise, do anything to better the situation? To this, the answer is: many times and no. They could not or would not choose to better the situation.

How many times have we chosen to live in the past, rather than to live with the present and look to the future? The past always looks best, the future hopeful, but the present we shun for fear that we cannot cope with its problems. Our best solution for these problems is to WAKE UP AND LIVE.

Here at this institution can be found an educational system that should be considered superior in its kind. There, too, can be found those things which are integral parts of an educational program seeking to develop the well-rounded personality of the individual. It is at this point of reflection that we come to know so very well that the most integral part lacking in our institution is one of unity. A unity which should be as consistent in spirit as is usually found in the group singing of our Alma Mater. This is the type of feeling that should prevail every day throughout the entire school year. If this type of spirit could span the coming year, 1958-59, it would truly be a year to remember and a year in which you may take pride in saying, "I am a member of the WEST VIRGINIA STATE COLLEGE FAMILY."
